The adjourned inquest in the case of Ratna Mitha, who was run over by a brougham, which was driven furiously by one Cullian Prag, a coachman in the employ of Mr. Cursetjee Davar, was resumed yesterday at the Coroner's office, Dhobee Talao, when, from the evidence before them, the jury returned the following verdict :—"That the deceased died from the effects of injuries received by being knocked down and run over by a carriage which was driven furiously by one Cullian Prag, who, therefore, in the opinion of the jury, is guilty of the crime of culpable homicide not amounting to murder.

In a suit brought before Sir C. Sargent yesterday, Cooverjee Pragjee sought to recover the sum of Rs. 10,000 on a promissory note from Dorabjee Pestonjee and another. Mr. Marriott conducted the plaintiff's case, but in consequence of the defendant having left the jurisdiction of the Court, Mr. Justice Westropp had made an order for substituted service, proof of which having been effected was given. His Lordship thereupon gave the plaintiff a decree for the full amount claimed with 9 per cent. interest from 8th August last and costs (270 rupees) and additional interest on judgment.

A suit was brought by the Bank of Bombay yesterday before Sir C. Sargent, for the recovery of the balance of a sum of Rs. 60,000 advanced on a promissory note passed by Ghellabhoy Purdamsey on the 22nd December 1866. In this case Mr. Scoble appeared on behalf of the plaintiffs, the defendant being out of jurisdiction the writ and notices were served by substitution. Proof was given of the advance of the sum of Rs. 60,000 and of the repayment at different periods of Rs. 17,500, leaving a balance now sued for of Rs. 42,500. His Lordship gave a decree against the defendant for this amount with interest at 9 per cent from 25th February till judgment, costs, and additional interest at 6 per cent. till payment.

INDO-EUROPEAN TELEGRAPH.—No telegrams were received during the last 24 hours ending at 8 P.M. yesterday.

The time occupied in the transmission of messages from Karrachee to Bombay during the same period ranged from 5 hours 51 minutes to 6 hours 30 minutes, communication being reported perfect.

The time occupied in the transmission of messages to Bombay from 8 P.M. of 28th to 8 P.M. of the 29th Jan. were as follows :—

KURRACHEE, 29TH, 11·25.—Direct line interrupted between Bagdad and Constantinople. Persian line still interrupted.

INFORMATION was yesterday received by the police of a robbery having been committed on the premises of Messrs. Blackwell and Co., in Hummum Street, Fort. It appears that the place had been entered from the rear near Mr. Partridge's through a window, which had been forcibly felt, broken open, and a quantity of brandy, wines, and other articles taken away. On Mr. Inspector Barnes proceeding to the spot, he found that the premises had been entered from a cook-house at the back, and on instituting a search, with the assistance of Mr. Partridge, a quantity of the plunder, consisting of wines, spirits, crockery ware, &c. were discovered secreted in an adjoining well. Suspicion at once rested on the people employed in the cook-house, which resulted in a boy being taken into custody, the "bobachee" having made himself scarce. It is not known how long these gentry have been carrying on their depredations, or to what extent the firm has been robbed. The case will doubtless come before the Magistrate at the Fort Police Court at an early day.

MR. DUNBAR appeared yesterday, in the third division Court, before Sir C. Sargent, to conduct a suit on behalf of the Bombay and Mahim Financial Corporation for the recovery of the sum of Rs. 8,760, alleged to have been advanced to the defendant Pandoo Jadhoo in January 1865. The defendant was out of Bombay and an order had been made for substituted service, in consequence of which a copy of the writ had been posted on the door of the defendant's house and also outside of the Court-house in the usual way. A clerk in the employ of the Financial was called to prove the plaintiff's case, who identified some of the signatures attached to the defendant in January last year and that he deposited, as security, 100 shares in the same Company. Evidence was also adduced to show that the Company paid a call due on these shares which was treated as a loan to the defendant. Davidas Mooridass, who described himself as having been sometimes chairman of the Company and at other times only a director, had introduced the defendant to the Company for the purpose of getting the advance on the security of the shares above alluded to. He was however unable to say whether the defendant's name was on the registry of the Company, had not got the books with him, and candidly admitted that even if he had he could not read them. The loan had been advanced by the manager, who seconded some months since. His Lordship gave the plaintiffs a decree for the original sum Rs. 8,400, with interest thereon at the rate of 12 per cent. per annum from the 15th January 1866 till judgment, costs, and the usual interest till payment.

PROFESSOR VANEK, having returned to Bombay, gave his opening entertainment on Monday night, in a tent on the north side of the Esplanade, close to the ground of the Bombay Cricket Club. It appears to be a favourite in Bombay, for the 2s. seat was quite filled, chiefly of course by natives, who seem to have a taste for European legerdemain. It was to be regretted that an indisposition prevented the Professor from going so deeply into his repertoire of tricks as he had intended, but the part of the programme which he devoted to them produced sufficient to show that he is a master in the art. His entertainment has the merit of being varied, and the optical representation he gives is well suited for exciting the wonder of native audiences. The chief charm of the entertainment, however, is what is called the "magnetic suspension" of Miss Adele, a pretty young girl of apparently twelve or thirteen years of age. Probably most of our readers have seen the picture intended to illustrate this performance (showing a young lady lying—if it may be called lying—in midair, with her elbow resting on the end of a perpendicular rod, as her only support); and perhaps the common reflection has been, on seeing it, that like most artistic productions of the same genre, it was just a little too strong. Not at all, however; it gives quite a correct idea of the performance, and saves us the necessity of describing it. Probably it is a very simple affair, if we only knew how it is done; and we have heard an explanation of it which may be the correct one. But, be that as it may, it is a very curious and astonishing sight, and we shall be surprised if little Adele does not make eight-tenths of fool themselves magnetically attracted to Professor Vanek's tent.

A MEETING of shareholders of the Eastern Financial Association was held yesterday afternoon, in a room above the offices of the Brokers' Banking Company, in Meadow Street. There were about thirty persons present, and Mr. Nusserbanjee Rastonjee Ranina was called to the chair. It will be remembered that at a previous meeting the shareholders present appointed a committee to watch their interests in the course of the settlement of the list of contributories by the High Court, and agreed to pay four annas per share to defray the expenses that would be incurred. This contribution, it appears, has been found to be insufficient, and it was consequently agreed at yesterday's meeting to raise it to one rupee per share, eight annas to be paid immediately (in addition to the four already paid) and the remaining four annas to be given afterwards if required. The Chairman reminded his auditors that there was very little time left for the preparation of their case, and he exhorted them to assist the committee by their co-operation and to inform them of any facts against the directors which might happen to be within their knowledge. He referred to the case of the Alliance Financial, and showed that—Europeans being concerned in it—active measures were taken at once on behalf of the contributories, and no coldness or delay was shown. There were, he said, a number of rumours regarding the directors, some of which, if they could be substantiated, would afford the shareholders a good case for altering the impending liability —which would then be thrown upon those who had mismanaged the affairs of the Company. The shareholders present signed an agreement paper, binding them to pay the contribution which had been resolved upon; and it was understood that those who would not sign the agreement would not be included in the list of persons for whom the committee would instruct counsel to appear in Court. An additional member was added to the committee.

FORT POLICE COURT.—29TH JAN.

FORGED CURRENCY NOTES.—Gopall Wittoba was charged with fraudulently or dishonestly using as genuine two forged currency notes for Rs. 100 each, knowing or having reason to believe the same to be forged.

The prosecutor, Seana Guija, a Marwarree pawn-broker, keeps a shop at Dongree. On Thursday, the 17th inst., about 2 P.M., the prisoner went to his shop and wanted to purchase gold necklace. He looked at several and agreed to buy one for Rs. 176, and handed to prosecutor two currency notes for Rs. 100 each, asking him to give him the balance of Rs. 24. On examining the notes prosecutor suspected they were not genuine, and he accordingly went and made a report to a police jemadar, who came to his shop and arrested the prisoner with the notes, which had been returned into his hands. The prisoner and the notes were then taken before the Commissioner of Police, who pronounced the latter to be forgeries.

Several witnesses were examined for the prosecution. The notes appeared, in His Worship's opinion, to be a well-executed imitation of genuine notes, and had in them even the water marks. The prisoner, a resident of Poona, where the notes were probably forged, was committed to stand his trial at the ensuing Criminal Sessions.

(BEFORE DOSABHOY FRAMJEE, ESQ.)

REFUSAL OF DUTY.—Charles Gauntlet, a seaman of the British ship Trees, was charged with wilful disobedience of lawful commands in refusing to do duty on board the ship.

Captain F. Chambers, master of the ship, proved that the defendant, on arrested seamen, refused duty this morning. Defendant persisted in refusing to turn to his work before the Magistrate, who sentenced him to the House of Correction for four weeks with hard labour.

A SIMILAR CASE.—Alexander Geddes and nine other seamen of the British ship Persian were charged with refusing duty on board the ship; and persisted in refusing to go and work on board again.

His Worship sentenced them to be imprisoned in the House of Correction for four weeks each.

ASSAULT.—Ramchunder Gungadass was convicted of assaulting Paroo Bairoo with a stick, which inflicted a severe wound in the forehead of the latter; and was fined Rs. 50; or in default of payment to be imprisoned for one month. Rs. 10 out of the fine, if recovered, were ordered to be paid to the complainant.

MAZAGON POLICE COURT—25TH JAN.

(BEFORE R. H. SHOWELL, ESQ.)

THE PSEUDO-RAJA OF CUTCH AND HIS THREE ACCOMPLICES.—Moorar Premjee, Mogjee Damodhur, Oomersee Premjee, and Maljee Hirjeee, were brought up on remand, and charged with attempting to cheat Mr. Hoorjeebhoy Hormusjee Shroff by personation.

Mr. Jnanadhun conducted the defence on behalf of the 1st and 2nd prisoners, and Mr. Hore for the rest.

Mr. Hoorjeebhoy Hormusjee Shroff deposed: I am bazaar assistant to Messrs Forbes and Company and reside at No. 4, Grant Road. One day, about a fortnight ago, the third and fourth prisoners came to my residence and told me that a raja, who had just arrived from Cutch, was desirous of purchasing my said bungalow, and they said that if I gave a handsome present to his moonim (manager) he would induce the raja to give a good price for it. I agreed to this; and on the following day the same two men brought the moonim, namely, the second prisoner, who, on looking over the house, said that his master, the raja, must see it, and he asked me what price I put upon it. After some negotiation a lac of rupees was fixed as the price of the house, the moonim remarking that for his troubles in the matter he must have twenty-five per cent. out of the money. On this I said that the usual rate of brokerage was two per cent. on such transactions, but I would give him four per cent, which he declined, but being desirous of knowing the real nature of their tricks I at last consented to his first proposal. He then promised to bring the raja at some convenient day. All the three men then went away. Two or three days afterwards, the second, third, and fourth prisoners again called on me at my residence, and said that the raja would call the next day, and I should be prepared about 5 o'clock to receive him. At the appointed time the next day, the raja, the first prisoner, accompanied by the other prisoners, came to my house. I received them in the form and led them through the house. On seeing which the raja expressed himself much pleased, and said he would buy the house at any price the moonim might fix. They shortly went away. On the following day the third and fourth prisoners again called in the evening at my house; the former taking me on one side, by the arm, said that the raja was a profligate man and fond of gaming, and that if I played with him a few games at cards I should win it. After a while the prosecutor and the second prisoner got up and some talk in Goozerathee took place, which I did not understand, and immediately prosecutor blew a whistle, on which I and Kassum Ally went up to the spot where the men were sitting, followed by Khan Bahadoor Akbar Ally and other policemen. As we got to the spot the other three prisoners rose up; the third prisoner had in his hands the cards before the Court which he threw down. I found thirty-three rupees on the spot where the men had been sitting. The four prisoners were then searched; with the first prisoner was found a bundle, being a ten-rupee note wrapped round some paper; with the second prisoner nothing was found; with the third prisoner rupees nine and five annas were found; and with the fourth were found seven annas.

Khan Bahadoor Akbar Ally was then called, and he corroborated in material points the statement of the last witness. He added that none of the other witnesses knew more than what was above stated. The first prisoner was not a raja, but a man of very humble origin, a carpenter by trade.

As there was no evidence to corroborate the prosecutor's statement His Worship had no alternative but to discharge the prisoners.

FALSE INFORMATION TO PUBLIC SERVANTS.—Valkoothgeer Sumbhoogeer was charged at the instance of one Jadowjee Shamjee as above.

The prosecutor is a dealer in grain and was one of the mortgagees of one Chintamund Crushnanund's house, situated in Girgaum, near Jaffer Sulcoman's show-rooms. Chintamund died on the 9th of this month, and on receiving the information of his death he went to the house in question, along with Purshotum Inderjee, who was also a mortgagee of the house. While they were sitting in the house the prisoner came there and told them that they should see what he would do." He then went out and brought two policemen, a havildar and a sepoy, and told them that they (meaning the prosecutor and Purshotum Inderjee) had given the deceased poison from which he had died, and that they had taken away property worth two lacs of rupees. The havildar gave them in charge of the sepoy, who with the prisoner went to Mr. Superintendent Hallums and brought him to the house. The prisoner told Mr. Hallums in their presence that they were the persons who had killed the deceased by administering poison and taken his property worth two lacs of rupees. Mr. Hallums ordered them to be taken away and kept in separate chowkeys. On representation being made by the prosecutor and his companion, Mr. Hallums made further enquiry into the matter and sent for Dr. Succaram Arjoon, collecting Surgeon to the Coroner, who also arrived there. After some discussion they said that the deceased had died from natural causes and they were brought in charge of the police to Major Henderson, who after instituting enquiries into the matter discharged them.

Dr. Succaram Arjoon remembered going to a house in Girgaum on the 6th instant, at the request of Mr. Hallums, Superintendent of Police. He there saw the prisoner as well as the prosecutor and his companion Purshotum. Mr. Hallums told him that the deceased had died in that house on that day and that some suspicion was raised as to the cause of his death. He went into the room and looked at the body as it was lying. The deceased appeared to him a very old man, whom he had known for more than twelve years, and about whose illness witness had also heard several days before his death. Witness came to the conclusion that there was nothing suspicious in the case so far as he could judge from the appearance of the deceased, and that the deceased appeared to him to have died from sheer debility and old age. He saw only deceased's face as it was the only part exposed, and could not, from that sight, say whether the deceased died a natural death or not. He was aware that no inquest was held.

Mr. D'Silva was next examined, and he corroborated in material points the testimony of the last witness.

His Worship then adjourned the case for further enquiry till this day (Wednesday).

Mr. Shamrao Pandoorung conducted the prosecution; Mr. Thacker defended the prisoner.

LAW.

HIGH COURT.—ORIGINAL JURISDICTION.

Friday, 25th January 1867.

(BEFORE THE HON'BLE SIR CHARLES SARGENT.)

Morarjee Gocouldas vs. Jaikissondass Thurgeelubdass and Thacoordass Hurgeelubdass.

IN this case Mr. Howard appeared to show cause against a rule obtained on the 14th of December last to set aside an ex parte judgment in favour of the plaintiff under the 19th section of the Civil Procedure Code. The ground on which the rule was obtained was, that the defendant, Thacoordass, was prevented from attending the Court at the hearing by reason of sickness. This allegation, however, the plaintiff urged was untrue, and also that the defendant ought not to be heard, inasmuch as he was in contempt for not filing a written statement pursuant to the Court's order, and being in contempt he (the plaintiff) was entitled to an ex parte judgment under the new rules.

Mr. Dunbar appeared in support of the rule.

It appears that the plaintiff, Morarjee, is a Hindoo merchant in Bazaar Gate Street, Bombay; that the first defendant, Jaikissondass, is a merchant at Surat, and the second defendant, Thacoordass, is a merchant residing in Shaik Memon Street, Bombay, and that they trade together under the name of Jaikissondass Hurryvullubdass. Some time last year the plaintiff sued the defendants for the recovery of Rs. 13,990 Rs., alleged to be due for money lent and advanced, and for work and labour done, with interest at 9 per cent. per annum. The 1st of October last was the day fixed for hearing the case, and according to the affidavit of the second defendant, he was in attendance at the Court to defend the suit from that day until the 6th of December, when he became sick and unable to leave his house until the 16th of that month, he being all that time under the care of Dr. Balcrustna Succaram. The case was called on on the 14th of December, when in consequence of his absence, it was decided against him. His defence was that he was not and never was a partner with the other defendant, Jaikissondass, and consequently was not indebted in any way to the plaintiff. On the 11th of January Mr. Dunbar moved on behalf of the second defendant that the decree passed in the suit be set aside, and a rule nisi was granted; and against this rule Mr. Howard now showed cause.

Mr. Howard read the affidavits put in to prove the alleged sickness of Thacoordass, from the 6th to the 16th of December, and severely criticised them. He then read in answer the affidavit of Hurrylall Mohunlal, Mr. Tyabjee's managing clerk, which stated, amongst other things, that on the 13th of that month Thacoordass came to his (Hurrylall's) house and said that the suit was set down for hearing on the following day, and requested him to persuade the plaintiff to refer the suit to arbitration. That on the following day Thacoordass came to the Court accompanied by Vunseydass Purbhoodass and methim (Hurrylall) near the door of Mr. Justice Westropp's Chambers about half-past 11 o'clock, and he (Hurrylal) then told him that the plaintiff refused to refer the suit to arbitration. That Thacoordass was well known to him and did not appear to be sick on either occasion. A Parsee mehta, named Dadabhoy Fuckerjee, also made affidavit to having met Thackoordass near the High Court on the 14th of December in company with a Bania, whose name he did not know, and he did not then appear to be sick. He met him again in the afternoon in the Protiocotory's office, and told him that judgment had been passed against him in the suits. On the other hand, Thacoordass was orally examined, and denied on oath that he had gone to Hurrylall's house on the 13th of December. He did not leave his own house all that day in consequence of being sick. He did not leave his house on the following day, nor go to the Court that day, and the statement that he met Hurrylall in the Court-house that day was false. The witness was cross-examined by Mr. Howard, but he adhered to the evidence above given. Dr. Balcrustna Succaram was called and stated that Thacoordass was under his medical treatment for fever from the 6th to the 16th of December, and gave him a certificate to that effect. Vunseydass Purbhoodass was likewise called, and on the tenth paragraph of Hurrylall's affidavit being read over to him he declared it to be totally false—that he was not in the Fort on the 14th December, and that he visited Thacoordass at his own house on the 11 or half-past 11 o'clock and found him lying on his cot sick.

Hurryllall was then called and circumstantially related Thacoordass' visit to him on the 13th December, and the conversation of the 14th in the High Court. He also stated that only a few days before Thacoordass had called on him and begged him not make an affidavit in this matter.

His Lordship said he must refuse the motion, independently of Hurrylall's evidence. The evidence concerning the defendant's sickness was not conclusive, and that of the defendant and his friend Vunseydass was insufficient to show his ability to appear. Besides this it appeared that no written statement had been put in, and there was evidently an attempt to evade answering the suit. Hurrylall's evidence he (the Judge) believed and he did not give the least credit to the evidence on the other side. The motion must therefore be refused with costs.

SMALL CAUSE COURT.—24TH JAN.

(BEFORE J. O'LEARY, ESQ.)

The Mazagon Land and Reclamation Company (Limited) vs. Mannohundass Davidass.

THIS was an action to recover the sum of Rs. 1,000, being the amount due by defendant as a shareholder of one share in the above Company.

Mr. Crawford represented the Company; the defendant appeared in person.

The defendant stated that he had engaged a professional gentleman to conduct the case on his behalf, and as he had left some important papers with him, he requested the Court to adjourn the case for a future day. It was a very intricate case, involving points of law, and further Mr. Mannohundass stated, that according to the articles of association no notice was given to him by the Company. The defendant said that Mr. Crawford was not a qualified director at the time when the meeting, declaring the call was held, because he (Mr. Crawford) was not a registered shareholder at that time.

Mr. Crawford said that though he was not a registered shareholder at the time, yet he held sixty shares, of which transfer papers to him were duly executed, and lying in the office; and that under the articles of association a person acting bona fide as a director was qualified to carry on the proceedings.

His Honor to Mr. Mannohundass: Was not Mr. Crawford elected as a director?

Mr. Mannohundass: He was elected as a director, and he acted as a director in the meeting, but he was not qualified to act in that capacity, because he was not a registered shareholder.

Mr. Crawford: I was the owner of sixty shares that moment.

Mr. Mannohundass: These shares were not standing in the registry. I hope your Honor will take that objection, because I want to appeal to the High Court.

His Honor: Is there anything else, Mr. Mannohundass?

Mr. Mannohundass: I am quite unprepared to conduct my case. All my papers are with my counsel, Mr. Cooper. If your Honor is satisfied you may give an ex parte verdict.

His Honor: I am not going to give an ex parte verdict. You have every opportunity of stating your defence.

Mr. Crawford then called the following witness :—

Ramchunder Govind stated: He was a clerk in the establishment of the Mazagon Land and Reclamation Company. He produced in Court vol. 4 of registry of shareholders, and in page 84 of that volume the defendant's name was registered as a shareholder of the Company. Witness knew the defendant. He was still a registered shareholder.

Mr. Crawford produced the proceedings of the meeting of the directors held on the 2nd May 1865, and it was resolved there, among other things, that a call of Rs. 1,000 should be immediately made, and the notices should be immediately given. He stated that the defendant became a shareholder on the 19th November 1864.

His Honor: Do you wish to cross-examine the witness?

Mr. Mannohundass: No, your Honor.

His Honor: Do you wish that I should send this case to the High Court?

Mr. Mannohundass: I want to bring this case before the full Court. Will you allow me to read some of the passages from the articles of association?

His Honor: I don't like to hear these passages.

Mr. Mannohundass: I have no materials before me. I asked your Honor to give me some time, which was refused to me. I want to send this case for the opinion of the High Court?

His Honor: What are the points which you wish to submit to the High Court.

Mr. Mannohundass: I will act according to my counsel's advice.

His Honor entered a verdict for the plaintiffs with costs.

A similar action was brought by the Company against Mr. Mancekjee Khurshedjee Cama, and in the absence of the latter, an ex parte verdict for Rs. 1,000 was entered in favour of the plaintiffs.

25TH JANUARY, 1867.

(BEFORE N. SPENCER, ESQ.)

Veerjee Jairam, carrying on business under the style or firm of Jairam Prajjee vs. Dhunjee Munjee and another.

Mr. Judge appeared for plaintiff, and Mr. Langdale for defendants.

This was an action to recover the sum of Rs. 314-14-5 principal, and Rs. 44-10-7 interest, due upon a signed and adjusted account.

The second defendant being an infant of the age of eight years and the son of the first defendant, his name was with plaintiff's consent struck out.

Mr. Langdale: The defendant admits the signed account, but denies that it is an adjusted account, because it is adjusted on a contingency, that is to say, after admitting that on adjusting the accounts up to date the sum of Rs. 314 was found due on 24th July 1864. The paper goes on to say that the accounts between the respective parties that have not been adjusted, and therefore the defendant meant that the said sum of Rs. 314 was not to be paid till they had been adjusted.

His Honor: If the defendant meant that, he did not express his meaning in this writing.

Mr. Langdale: That was the meaning intended to be conveyed by the writing, and the evidence of the writer will prove it.

His Honor: I don't think that evidence is admissible. If the defendant claims any balance on the other accounts—

Mr. Langdale: The defendant does not claim any balance on the other accounts, but he says they have not been adjusted.

His Honor: That is no defence to this action.

Mr. Judge said he understood from Mr. Langdale's argument that he admitted the document on which plaintiff sued, and that his only defence was, that other accounts were referred to in it which had not been adjusted, and therefore this account could not be considered an adjusted account. He submitted, however, that that was not good law, for the words of the adjusted account are "on adjusting all the accounts in respect of the same," (namely the transactions above mentioned) "up to this day the account has been settled. Therein Rs. 314-14-6, have been found to be due, on date the 10th of Assadvad Friday (20th July 1864) the same are to be duly paid." The paper then goes on to say, that there are other accounts between the parties which have not been adjusted, but it does not say that the said adjusted account is not to be paid until they are adjusted, and the only object with which they are referred to at all in this paper seems to be, that a proper difference that they are included in the adjusted account. He (Mr. Judge) therefore submitted that the plaintiff was entitled to a verdict for the amount claimed.

His Honor said that there must be a verdict for the plaintiff for the amount claimed and costs, with certificate for advocate's fees.

CORRESPONDENCE.

THE BISHOP OF CALCUTTA.

To the Editor of the Bombay Gazette.

SIR,—In yesterday's Gazette I observe that the Rev. Robert Milman, M. A., the Bishop designate of Calcutta, and since 1862 Vicar of Great Marlow Bucks, is confounded with his brother William Henry Milman, Rector of St. Augustine's and St. Faith's, London. Everything in the article (except the nomination to the Bishopric and Reuter's mistaken paternity, which, if true, will give the Bishop the unique advantage of a more than ordinary degree of clerical blood) belongs to the latter, and not to the Rev. Robert Milman, who is also an active parochial clergyman, and, I believe, a more moderate churchman than his brother of St. Faith's. LECTOR.

RECKLESS DRIVING.

To the Editor of the Bombay Gazette.

SIR,—The writer, his gorawallah, horse and buggy were within an ace of being "annihilated" last evening at about 7 o'clock on the Parell Road, close to the Sassoon Tower. A number of carriages (I suppose returning from the Governor's Ball) were coming up at a smart pace towards the Fort, two or three abreast. Presently another large covered carriage with two huge English horses drove up, passing all the others at a tremendous pace, on the extreme right of the road—instead of the driver keeping on his own side—or at any time somewhere near the middle. The coachman drove at full pace right slam on to my cart's "low amed (although we both had our lamps lighted) and my shouting and screeching was all to no purpose, and had I not pulled my horse and buggy sharply to the left and right up on to the foot-path (nearly a foot higher than the road) I have not the least doubt but that the whole concern of us would have been thoroughly smashed. Directly I saw I was clear I jumped off and made an attempt to catch the carriage, with the view of having over the delinquent to the tender mercies of our worthy Chief Magistrate, but the pace they kept at was far too swift for my legs, although I am not a bad runner when occasion requires.

The equipage did not lack for "quantity, as besides its component parts already described, there were two sturdy coachmen before, two ditto behind, and six fat ostentatious looking Jews inside enjoying the fun! Probably they thought themselves entitled to it by virtue of a huge family (?) erect, the size of a cheese plate, emblazoned on their carriage.

Can the police not put down or at least check this growing evil in Bombay, to which natives only are addicted? The police ought to be entrusted and empowered to put a stop to the case) after serious damage has been done. I hope soon to see that the police are acting on the suggestion with a will, and, indeed, I think, that they should get a share of the fines for the trouble they may be put to. THE WHIP,
(If it could only reach them.)

INDIAN NEWS-LETTERS.

(From our Own Correspondent.)

CALCUTTA, 22ND JANUARY.

THAT well intentioned lady, Miss Carpenter, has at last left us and proceeded homeward, with the intention, very probably, of "writing a book on India," in which she will lay down the law as grave and as successfully as most of those have done, who have given this country a peep and have believed that nothing more was necessary to qualify them for pronouncing authoritatively on everything connected with this unfortunate land. Of course she will write in raptures about our Aryan brethren, who have fooled her to the top of her bent, and succeeded in convincing her that they are the noblest set of follows the world has ever seen. And their accomplishment of this task is not to be wondered at, for it is astonishing how easy it is to persuade one of the truth of a certain theory on certain set of doctrines when one is already more than half prepared to embrace them. Miss Carpenter is not the first person who has set foot on these shores with a set of notions already cut and dry, as to the position, prospects, and character of the natives of Bengal; but whilst those who have remained for a few years in India have seen their once fondly cherished views dissolve into air, Miss Carpenter only remained just long enough to confirm her in her error, and lull her more soundly than ever to sleep under a huge delusion. Her narrative, then, may make very pleasant reading to the good folks at home, but it will most certainly lead them into radically erroneous views of the people of Bengal. She has certainly stirred Bengallee society to some extent, and it is equally doubtless that all whom she addressed thoroughly appreciated the kindliness of feeling which actuated her in all she did and said on their behalf, but that the impression produced has been deep, real and permanent, is open to the gravest suspicion. The novelty of the spectacle has also had a great deal to do with the sensation produced, for this is the first time in the history of India that a venerable old lady has left the comforts and happiness of her English home, in order to preach up female education to the Bengallees, and endeavour to do, what abler men have totally failed to accomplish, viz. to rouse them to something like action in behalf of those whom they profess to love. But if her presence among them is something new, the principles and views she propounded could scarcely have been so, at least to that portion of the educated natives who have given any attention to the subject, and have studied, as a consequence, the numerous works which a prolific Press has been throwing out for a series of years. It is a noteworthy fact that not one of the papers on this side of India has spoken hopefully of the results of her labours, whilst all unite in regretting, that she should have laboured among men who, whilst full of the sentimentality of benevolence, know nothing of its hidden fire and life. Even whilst this lady was actually engaged in her labour of love, the leading organ of native opinion did not hesitate to assert that the condition of the Bengallee women was so completely joyous and happy, that it was difficult to see of what it stood in need. We are always being told by these Aryans that the women of India, or at least of that portion of them which inhabit Bengal, are as happy as the day is long, although they are inwardly within four walls, shut out from the contemplation of the handiwork of the Almighty, and compelled to herd with a set of ignorant and superstitious old jades and a few favoured Brahmins, whose only endeavour is to rivet more closely every day the fetters of priestcraft and sacerdotal supremacy. It may be that they are happy, but then it must be the happiness of the mole or the bat. I am disposed to enquire whether amongst the crowd of human beings thus mercilessly incarcerated and compelled to lead a life which can never rise above that of the animals around them, it ever happens that any one of them frets and chafes at the tyranny to which she is subjected, ever experiences within her strange and incomprehensible aspirations which she finds it impossible to express, simply because there are no shapeless and misty, or feels drawn upwards under the gentle influence of some angel visitor, abandoning the dark Stygian pool of Hindoo existence for one which her loving Creator intended her. Or is it one dead flat, one lifeless mass, one huge stagnation? It is saddening to think so. But the enquiry is useless, simply because it is impossible to obtain any information on the subject, for whilst the present generation of educated natives are free in the latter, they are quite as completely slaves in the spirit as ever their fathers were. The only field on which Miss Carpenter labours are likely to produce any fruit is that which the Asiatic Society has under its supervision, and from a notification which I see in the papers, ground is already about to be broken. The result of the society's deliberations will doubtless be made public, and something tangible and practical may be looked for from that quarter. I shall report fully on the subject in my next, being pretty certain that even by that time the Bethune Society and the Brahmo-Somaj will have done nothing beyond placing on record sundry very admirable resolutions and motions.

Captain Taylor of the Calcutta has been tried at the High Court, before Mr. Justice Phear, and sentenced to three months' rigorous imprisonment. To tell you the honest truth, I had made up my mind for an acquittal. Such a time had been allowed to elapse between the date of the offence and that of the acquittal, that the indignation of the public—always peculiarly evanescent in this country—had almost completely subsided, and there had come into its place a feeling of almost complete indifference. In the hurry and bustle of Indian daily life, both controversies anent the doings of the Lieutenant Governor and the transcendant merits of a lot of Italian singers, Captain Taylor and his misdeeds were nearly lost sight of. Then, again, people began to think that it was just possible those were mistaken who had positively sworn to the prisoner having been inoculated with the poison of the catastrophe, and the conflicting evidence given before the Coroner and the jury did not tend to reassure the public upon this point. Lastly, he was defended by a very able barrister. In addition to all this, it might safely be said that the public of Calcutta are not of a particularly revengeful disposition, and so it comes to pass that, if the first burst of temper is rather appalling, it is also exceedingly short-lived. Captain Taylor, then, has been sentenced to three months' rigorous imprisonment, a fate which depends altogether upon circumstances for its real character. It might be made a very pleasant one by a little judicious management, and it might be made very terrible by any exhibition of folly on the part of the prisoner. There are two "gentlemen" now in that same Jail, who were flung into it for forgery and embezzlement. One was an attorney and the other a merchant, and both figured gaily at one time in the best of Calcutta society. Their sentences, as well as I can recollect, extend over seven and ten years, but beyond the unpleasantness of being prevented from taking their walks abroad of a fine cool morning, they are quite as comfortable and as little troubled as they were in their own homes. Whilst men of the "baser sort," that is men made of baser clay, have to break stones till their hands are blistered and their backs sore, those gentlemen live at home at ease, they have their own cook, their own their servants to attend on them, their little luxuries and comforts, and, in short, have altogether a very pleasant time of it. I dare say they have their newspaper also, and are thus kept en courant with all the scandal and gossip of the day; they can speculate at their ease on the way in which brokers make their fortunes by "bulling" and "bearing" stock, and companies leave for home with money in both pockets. They criticise the actions of the Viceroy, and guage the intentions of the Czar of all the Russias in connection with his movements in Central Asia. Their lives have a peculiarly calm and even flow, and if it is at any time disturbed, it is only when the groans of some wretched medicator, one of those "low amed fashion" as whom no "gentleman" can be expected to feel any sympathy, come screeching into the room to remind them that they are in Jail—yes, there is no doubt whatever that there is a law for the rich and another for the poor, a law for the thrice born and another for the European pariah. How very pleasant then it is to sit in the Viceregal Council Chamber, and listen to men like Mr. Maine and Mr. Muir, expatiate on the open-handedness of British justice in this country, and share in their surprise that others cannot see it. It is so delightful to go with some of the Judges of the High Court, men brimful of zeal and humanity, and walk with them through the Calcutta House of Correction, and mark the admirable arrangements that are to be found in full operation there, for the purpose of civilising the savage and modifying the ruffian. Again one quite an exalted idea of the capacity and abilities of our native legislatories, when we see the promptitude with which they detect the miserable falsehood lying couched at the bottom of the plausible tale invented by miserable men, about the sufferings they endure, the tyranny to which they are daily exposed, and the inhumanity which makes existence a curse and a burden. You come away with a strong feeling of gratitude for the blessings you enjoy in the presence of these statesmen and lawyers amongst us, and your remembrance with a thrill of delight, Magna Charta and the Bill of Rights, and all the rest of it. I do not know whether you all on your side of the Peninsula can boast of so excellent a Bastile as we possess here, but if you don't, then the sooner you send a Forjett over here the better for you all. No better training school can be found. Old Ovid would have gazed on it with rapture, and have scouted once more ingenuus dedicisse fideliter arcs,—you know the rest.

The present occupant of Belvedere House is not to be envied, for what with Mr. Ravenshaw's report from Calcutta, the confessions of the Englishman, Sir Cecil Beadon must be in anything but a pleasant frame of mind. That the Board and the Commissioner should have spoken out as they have done is a significant fact I take it, when I call to mind the past reticence of the latter, and the rosy-tinted reports of the former. That one should break silence only to send in a gloomy report, and the other should suddenly abandon their familiar policy and send in a statement of the most startling character, can scarcely fail to arrest attention. The Commission now labouring in Orissa are singularly silent, and nobody appears to have anything like a correct idea of the nature of the verdict they are likely to deliver. Of course there are rumours and reports of a conflicting nature, and whilst some will have it that the Commissioners are securing evidence that will ensure a complete acquittal, others are equally positive in asserting that the statements they will submit for the perusal of Lord Cranborne and of the public at home, are of a very damnatory character. I may state that both parties have built their conclusions upon very unsubstantial bases, and that really nothing positive is known one way or the other. The Commissioners have passed on from Cuttack to Balasore and will proceed thence to Midnapore. It is of course just possible that the sudden action of the Board of Revenue and the Commissioner of Cuttack may have some connection with the Report which the Commissioners are preparing; but this also is mere conjecture. It is impossible now, however, to conceal the fact that the Government and the public will have to feed the population of the whole province of Orissa for another year, and that for this purpose an almost fabulous quantity of rice and a proportionate expenditure of money are required. Where the latter is to come from is more than I can say, unless Mr. Massey has recourse to fresh taxation. And why the public should be fleeced because the Government blunders is not very apparent. It is said that Mr. Massey has a license scheme on the anvil, and that he is persuaded of its efficacy in replenishing the imperial coffers. Of course our "ignorant impatience of taxation" will make no grumble and murmur, but as there is to be no income tax, that peculiar abomination of the public, the latter are half resigned to the blow which Mr. Massey is about to deal. I shall endeavour to be present when he unfolds his scheme before the assembled legislative wisdom of this Presidency, and will then write more at length on the subject.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills cannot be too highly commended for the favourable influence they exercise over the skin. In all eruptions, inflammations, and ulcerations the detergent qualities of this unguent render it so efficacious in first cleansing and purifying the diseased part, then inducing renewed and healthy action, as to ultimately leave the surface in the highest health. Holloway's Ointment works the most wonderfully beneficial results in bad legs, chronic sores, &c., by improving and quickening the sluggish, and imperfect circulation removing all corrupt matters and increasing the disposition to heal. Holloway's Ointment throws no deleterious drawback on the function of the skin; it manifestly augments its evaporation and perspiration, whereby softness and pliability supplant the previously harsh and dry state.
